KIAMA ATHLETES RECOGNISED

The Kiama Mayoral Reception held last Thursday saw a strong turn out by both athletes and parents. Mayor Sandra McCarthy welcomed and congratulated the athletes on their progress and performance as part of the Academy program.

The athlete's response was given by Matt Bond, of the Pubstay rugby union squad, thanking Mayor McCarthy and the Council for their support of the Academy sports programs and athletes.

In attendance was former rugby league international representative, and Academy squad member, John Simon (above with Mayor). Simon has been Academy Head Coach of the Rugby League program since 2004.

AUST NETBALL SQUAD BECKONS

The Australian Age National championships are being held in Darwin this week, displaying the talents of two former IAS squad members Nicole Hahn and Leah Shoard (right) as part of the NSW U19 team.

Shoard (vice captain) and Hahn will compete against the best in the country, and will both vie to renew their squad status as part of the Australian talent identification U19 squad.

5 PAST PLAYERS IN COCKATOOS

Former rugby union squad members Chris Bradshaw, Shane Frigo, Jay Treggonning, Josh Darby, Daniel Drewe, Tim Carney, and Leith Cooper represented Illawarra in the final of the NSW Country Rugby Championships on the weekend.

Although Illawarra went down to Central Coast 18-9, strong performances in the Championship series saw Treggonning, Darby, Cooper, Drewe and Carney all selected for the NSW Country Cockatoos side.

SWIMMERS TARGET 'NATIONALS'

Cameron Reynolds (right) is one of thirteen Sydney Water Swim squad members competing at the Australian Age Championships to commence next week in Brisbane.

The Age Championships are the pinnacle of the swim squad season, providing athletes with their Australian and International rankings.

Sydney Water squad manager Grant Hughes says that squad members "have been training towards this event all season."

After a lot of hard work, the swimmers are expected to peak at this event".

CAVALIER WINS JNR DOWNHILL

BlueScope Steel mountain biker Amiel Cavalier (Figtree) has performed well at the Oceania Downhill Mountain Bike Championships held at Mount Buller in Victoria last weekend.

An array of Australian and New Zealand competitors met in fine and sunny conditions for Saturday. For the race however, the harrowing rocky and root ridden track became slippery due to on and off downpours throughout the race.

At 18-years-old, Cavalier (above) won the Juniors race gaining valuable UCI (Union Cycling International) points for the possibility of competing in 2005 Down Hill World Cup events internationally.

DAWSON WINS JNR MASTERS

Former academy squad member Peter Dawson has won the U17 section of the Junior Masters at Bathurst Golf course with two round handicap score of 143.
